

Oceanography: Science for Survival

1963

16mm, b/w, sof, "A" Wind, 1027' from head sync mark to last picture frame. Head sync mark.
 Source: Interagency Committee on Oceanography and U.S. Navy
 Producer: Seneca Prod Inc., New York City, Robert McCarty, Director, and Mr. Larry Moore,
 U.S. Naval Photo Center.

This film reviews the science of oceanography and its importance to man's survival.

Shot List

0'- Head sync mark.
 7 '- First picture frame.
 36'- Shots of ocean.
 42'- Credits.
 45'- Title sequence.
 58'- Shots of ocean.
 104'- President John F. Kennedy (JFK) statement. (Public Papers, Item No. 430).
 154'- Shots of scientific expeditions exploring ocean depths.
 196'- Shots of Federal Council of Technology and Science, and Interagency Committee on Oceanography (ICO).
 406'- Shots of scientific expeditions exploring ocean depths.
 523'- Coastal exploration pertaining to pollution.
 565'- Fish research.
 590'- National defense research pertaining to ocean.
 619'- Shots of bathyscaph "Trieste" performing ocean experiments.
 697'- World wide water research techniques.
 733'- Department of Commerce sea explorations.
 794'- Coast Guard polar explorations.
 806'- Shots of U.S. Naval Oceanographic office.
 858'- Naval explorations.
 970'- Shots of international scientific explorations.
 1008'- Shots of sea. (JFK voice-over)
 1014'- JFK's address.
 1022'- Shots of sea.
 1027'- Credits.
 1027'- Last picture frame.